PREVIOUS CLASS PUBLICATIONS

Statistics of the Class of '87, Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University. Statisticians: Frank W. Wentworth, George H. Wood. Paper covers. 34 pp. New Haven. The Stafford Printing Co. 1887.

Some Statistics Regarding the Class of 1887, Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University. Compiled by Wilfred E. Griggs, Class Secretary. Paper. 20 pp. Waterbury, Conn. The Waterbury Printing Co. June 24, A. D. 1902.

PREFATORY NOTE

The preparation of this record was undertaken as a forlorn hope after the resignation of the appointed committee, but no apology is to be made as forlorn hopes are no novelty to the writer.

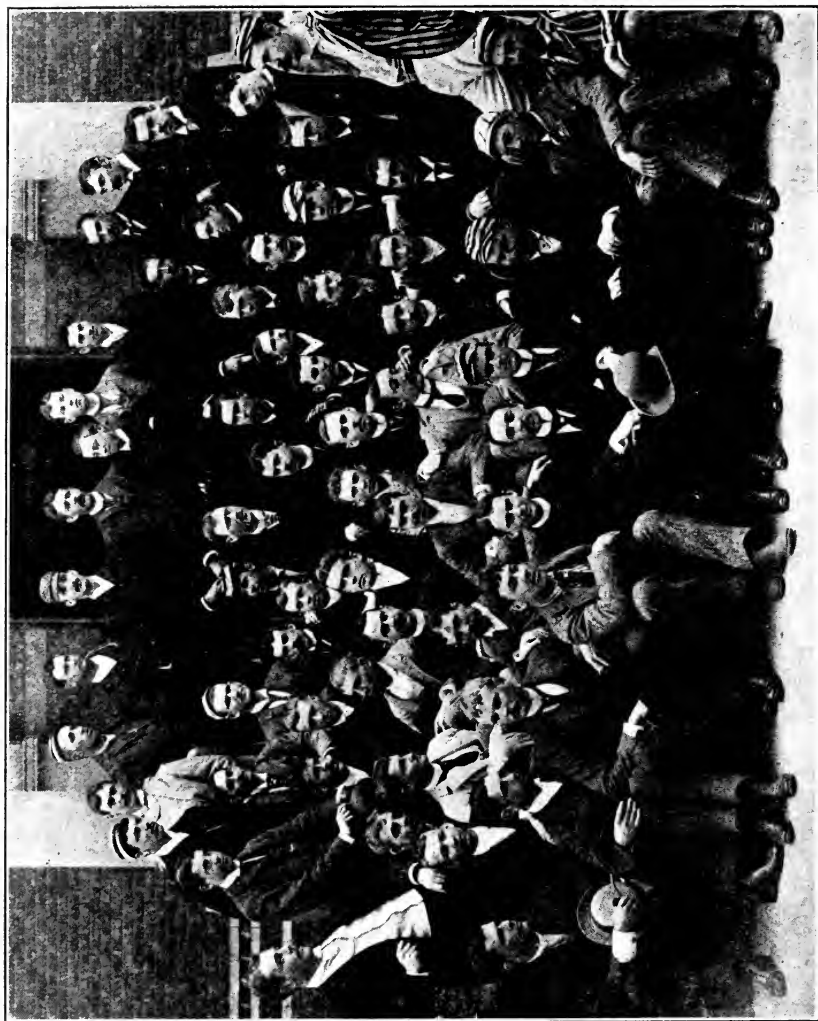

The publication has been delayed owing to other demands on the writer's time, and in the hope that a record of every member of the Class might be included. It now seems impossible to complete the few missing biographies, at least without the employment of a detective agency.

The actual work of compiling and writing the record has been done by the Yale Class Secretaries Bureau, and the thanks of the Class are due that institution for its valuable aid.

REUNIONS

The available record of '87 S., as a Class, since graduation reunion, is so meagre that an account of its reunion is not possible. The building destroyed by fire in 1890 was in the town of Waterbury, Conn. Consequently as memory is not always reliable, there may be errors in the following lists of those present at the earlier reunions.

TRIENNIAL

Triennial reunion was held, June 24, 1890, with a banquet at the Hotel New York. The committee consisted of Theodore Sargent, Chairman, and as toast-master. THE SENATOR GROUP

REUNIONS

The available record of '87 S., as a Class, since graduation is limited to a brief account of its reunions, as all the Class records were destroyed by fire in the office of Secretary Griggs at Waterbury, Conn. Consequently as memory is not always reliable, there may be errors in the following lists of those present at the earlier reunions.

TRIENNIAL

Triennial reunion was held, June 24, 1890, with a banquet at Prokasky's. The committee consisted of Georger and Jackson; Georger acting as toastmaster. Those present were: Adams, Augur, Bigelow, Bullard, Butler, Cummings, Day, Dyer, Francke, French, Georger, Griggs, Ham, Harger, Hayden, Jackson, Jenkins, Jewett, Judson, Kellogg, Maltby, Morrison, Ordway, Patterson, Rainey, Reynolds, Sargent, Scaife, Short, E. A. Smith, Summers, Tuttle, Tyler, Walther, Woods.

SEXENNIAL

Sexennial was at Heublein's on June 27, 1893. The committee in charge was Rainey and Day. Some of those present were: Adams, Bullard, Day, Dyer, Georger, Griggs, Ham, Harger, Kellogg, Rainey, Reynolds, Scaife, Tuttle.

DECENNIAL

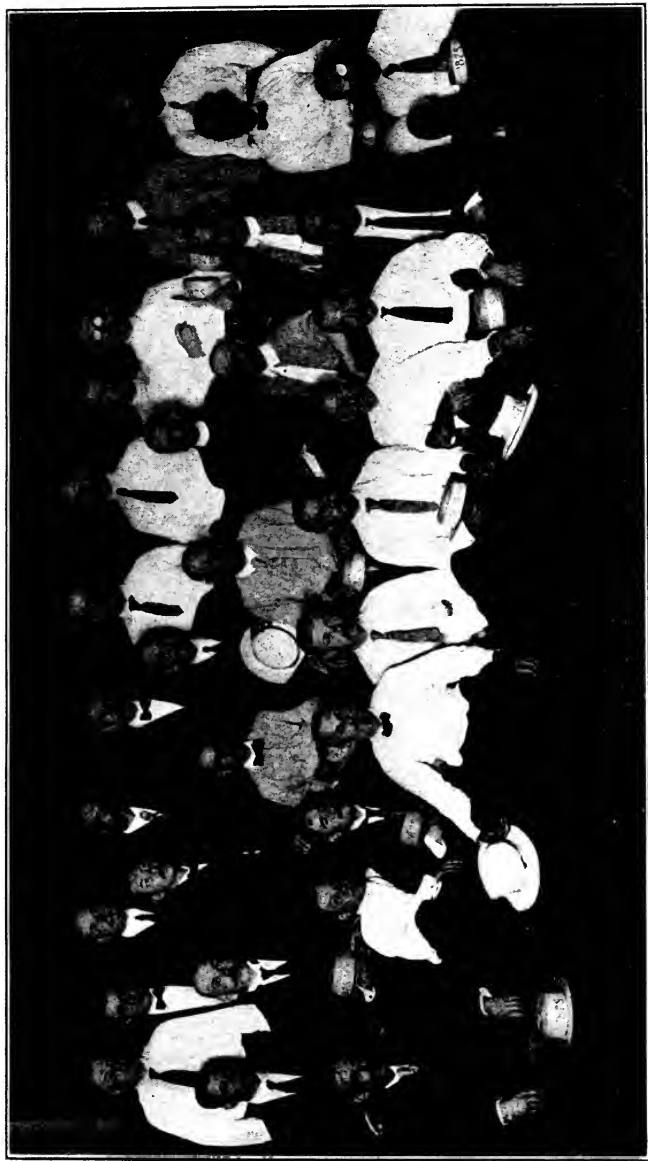

Decennial reunion was celebrated by a meeting and smoker at Heublein's on June 29, 1897. The committee was Ham and French. There were present: Adams, Conner, Georger, Griggs, Ham, Harger, Hayden, Jewett, Kellogg, Ordway, Paul, Rainey, Sargent, Scaife, E. A. Smith, Sperry, Tuttle, Walther.

QUINDECENNIAL

At our Quindecennial reunion, held June 23, 1902, at Heublein's, the Class cup was presented to the Class Boy, Donald Seymour Tuttle, son of H. B. Tuttle. Secretary Griggs issued a pamphlet entitled, "Some Statistics regarding the Class of '87 S." The reunion committee was Georger, Day and Ham. Those present were: Adams, Bigelow, Bullard, Day, Georger, Griggs, Ham, Harger, Hayden, Hubbell, Jewett, Kellogg, Maltby, Ordway, Rainey, Reynolds, Scaife, E. A. Smith, Tucker, Tuttle, Wakeman.

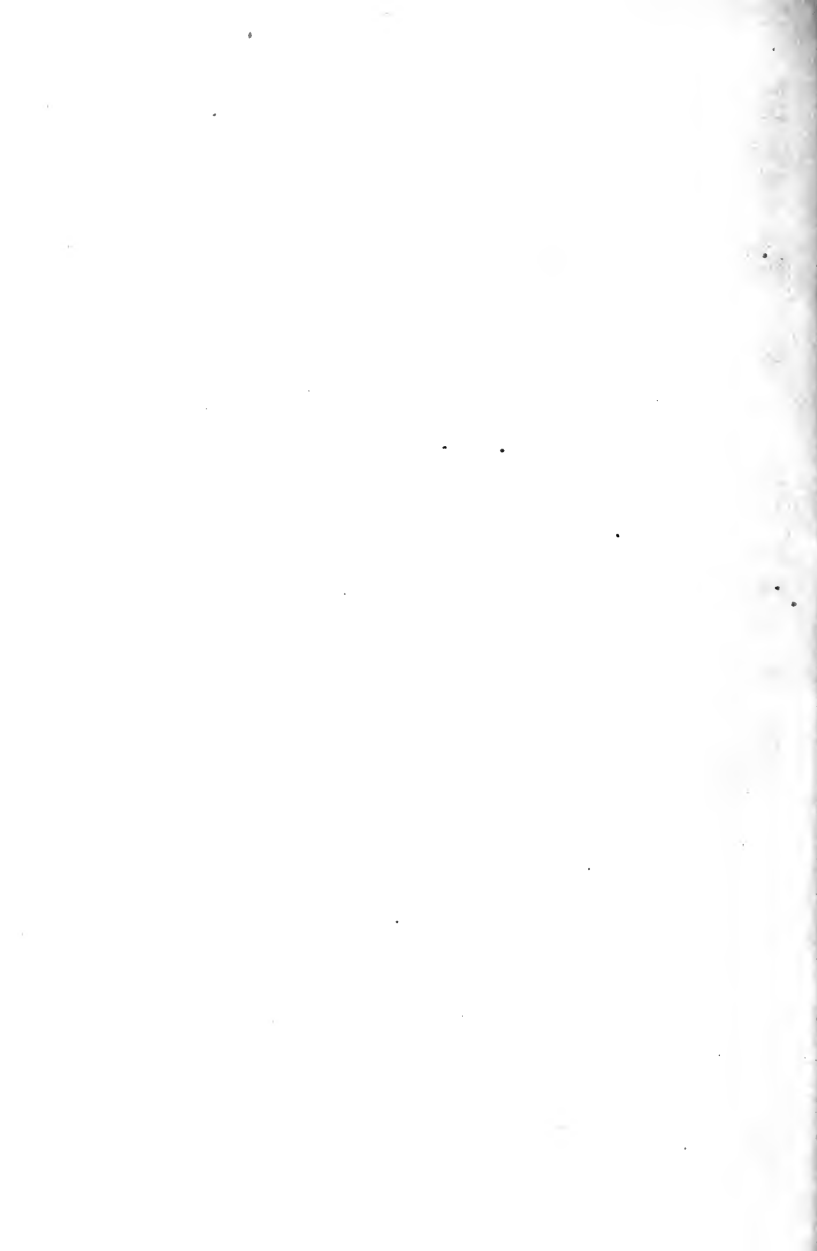

VICENNIAL

This reunion was held on June 25, 1907, at the Tontine Hotel. The committee consisted of Ham, Day and Georger, Ham acting as toastmaster. At a meeting held before the dinner Scaife was appointed chairman of our Quarter Centenary

NEW YORK ANNUAL DINNERS

At the suggestion of the reunion committee, annual Class dinners have been held in New York City at the University or Yale clubs, beginning in February, 1911. These dinners have been in charge of Walther, Georger and Conner and have been very enjoyable affairs.

QUARTER CENTENARY REUNION

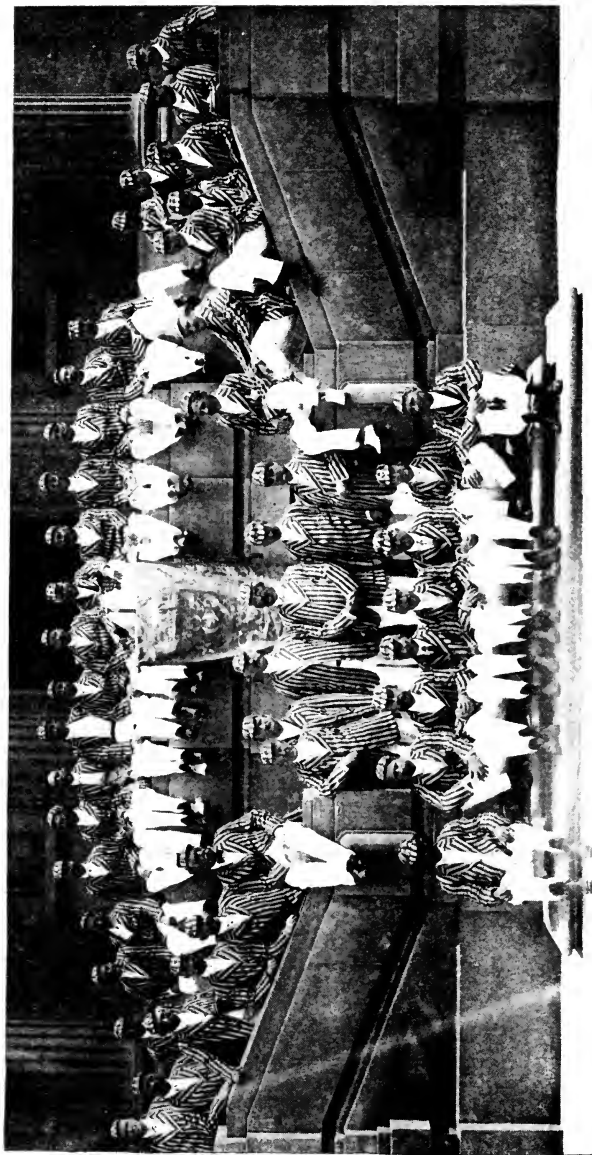

Our Quarter Centenary reunion, arranged by a committee consisting of Scaife (chairman), Conner, Georger, Jenkins and Wood, deserves more than passing mention. A Class fund was raised from which, after paying the reunion expenses, four thousand dollars was contributed to the Yale Alumni Fund.

A house on Wall street was rented for headquarters during Commencement week and the principal events on our program were as follows:

MONDAY, JUNE 17.. A Class meeting was held at which, on the resignation of Griggs, Jenkins was elected Class secretary; Scaife was elected president of the Class and chairman of the next reunion committee. At noon we journeyed in automobiles to Georger's farm in Cheshire, where we were delightfully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Georger. After luncheon various sports were indulged in, including a real baseball game. On our return we had dinner at the Graduates Club House, at Double Beach.

TUESDAY, JUNE 18. After luncheon at headquarters, arrayed in our new uniforms, we posed on Byers Hall steps for the Class picture; then, preceded by the New Britain band, we marched to Yale Field to the Yale-Harvard game. In the evening the reunion banquet was served at the Lawn Club, Judge Bullard presiding as toastmaster. President Scaife was presented with a loving cup and some notable speeches were heard. It is worthy of record, as showing either the return of interest in poetry or that the Class learned something besides pure and applied science at Sheff, that at this banquet, in addition to four new songs written by members of the Class, at least three toasts were responded to in original verse.

The following were present at the Quarter Centenary reunion: Adams, Augur, Bullard, Coburn, Conner, Cummings, Day, Durant, Dyer, French,

Physician, 32 Palmetto Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Henry Frederick Adams was born in Westport, Conn., June 23, 1867. He is a son of George Sherwood Adams and Polly Morehouse (Coley) Adams, who were married October 16, 1844, and had eleven other children, of whom two sons are now living: John Lanson Adams, Yale '83, M.D. Columbia '86; and Charles Francis Adams, Yale '86, M.D. Columbia '90.

George Sherwood Adams (born October 16, 1818, in Westport, Conn.) is the son of Jabez Adams and Sarah (Bennett) Adams. He is a resident of Westport, being engaged in the lumber business and is also president of the Westport Savings Bank.

Polly Morehouse (Coley) Adams (born April 2, 1825, and died December 26, 1898, in Westport, Conn.) was the daughter of Lanson Coley and ————— (Downs) Coley.

Adams prepared at Bishop Scott's School in Portland, Ore., and took the Biology Course at Sheff. He rowed bow oar in the Class Crew.

He was married February 14, 1893, in Westport, Conn., to Miss Emma Louise Sturges, a graduate of Mrs. Gay's School, daughter of William Edgar Sturges, deceased. They have two daughters: Margarite, Vassar '15 (born January 11, 1894, in Brooklyn, N. Y.), and Dorothy Louise (born May 8, 1905, in Brooklyn, N. Y.)

After graduation from Sheff Adams entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, and received the degree of M.D. in 1890. Since that date he has practiced his profession. He has served as radiographist to the German and Bushwick Hospitals of Brooklyn.

He is a member of the Episcopal Church.

Robert C. Augur

Engineer of tests, American Brake Shoe & Foundry Company, Mahwah, N. J.

Residence, Mahwah, N. J.

Robert Clayton Augur was born in New Haven, Conn., June 24, 1866. He is a son of William E. Augur and Adelia C. (Phelps) Augur, who were married October 13, 1864, and had two other children: Charles E. Augur, a building contractor who resides in New Haven, and Katherine Augur.

William E. Augur (born May 3, 1837, in New Haven, Conn., died March 30, 1903, in West Haven, Conn.), the son of Horace A. Augur, was an architect. He served as corporal in the Seventh Connecticut Volunteer Regiment from 1861 to 1864. The first of the name (also Robert) in America was a grantee of one of the original lots "reserved for an Elder" facing the New Haven Green. "Mr. Augur (his name is always accompanied by that respectful prefix)" was a physician, apparently the only man in the Colony who practiced his profession exclusively, and he seems to have suffered considerably by the negligence of his patients in paying their bills. In fact the court was compelled to act on several occasions in order that he might obtain the wherewithal to purchase more remedies.

Adelia C. (Phelps) Augur was born December 25, 1836, in Northampton, Mass., the daughter of Lewis Phelps. Her ancestors were among the early settlers of Massachusetts.

Augur prepared at the Hillhouse High School, New Haven, Conn., and in Sheff took the Mechanical Engineering Course. He received a prize in physics in Freshman year, honorable mention in mathematics both Freshman and Junior years and in dynamic engineering, Senior year.

He was married April 9, 1891, in Aurora, Ill., to Miss Charlotte Sophia Blodgett, of Rushville, N. Y., daughter of Orlin E. Blodgett. They have three daughters, all born in Watertown, N. Y.: Marcia Wilder (born April 12, 1892); Elizabeth Blodgett, and Kathryn Blodgett (born August 14, 1895).

Since graduation Augur has engaged in engineering, his first work being with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad as a special apprentice in the motive power department. He was thus employed from 1887 to 1890 and during this period lived in Aurora, Ill. The fifteen years following, 1890 to 1905, he made his residence in Watertown, N. Y., and was engaged as assistant mechanical engineer and later as mechanical engineer for the New York Air Brake Company. In 1905 he went to Pittsburgh as resident engineer for the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, resigning this position in 1909 for his present work as engineer of tests for the American Brake Shoe & Foundry Company in Mahwah, N. J.

He is an Independent Republican and a member and trustee of the Presbyterian Church of Suffern, N. Y.

*Elmer E. Bennett

Died 1892

Elmer Ellsworth Bennett, son of John H. Bennett, was born in Moosup, in the township of Plainfield, Conn., October 26, 1861, and died there in February, 1892.

*Walter P. Bigelow

Died 1907

Walter Pierpont Bigelow was born in New Haven, Conn., November 14, 1864. He was a son of Hobart Baldwin Bigelow and Eleanor Swift (Lewis) Bigelow, who were married May 6, 1857, and had three other children, two sons and a daughter: Frank Lewis Bigelow, Yale '81 S.; Philo Lewis Bigelow, and Eleanor M. Bigelow (died July 28, 1872).

Hobart Baldwin Bigelow (born May 16, 1834, in North Haven, Conn.; died October 12, 1891, in New Haven, Conn.), the son of Levi L. and Belinda (Pierpont) Bigelow, was a manufacturer, organizer of the Bigelow Company, manufacturers of boilers. He was a member of the common council, as councilman in 1863-64, and as alderman in 1864-65. He was supervisor, 1871-74, and fire commissioner, 1874-76. He also served one term as representative from New Haven in the General Assembly of 1875. So long an experience had especially fitted him to fill the place of mayor, and though normally in the minority in New Haven, he was elected in 1879 for a two years' term by a large majority. It was during his administration that the East Rock Park Commission was created and the park opened, and the breakwaters started. Upon the close of his term as mayor, he was elected governor of the state for the succeeding two years. In 1882 he was elected president of the Merchants' National Bank.

Eleanor Swift (Lewis) Bigelow (born March 23, 1835, in Terryville, Conn.; died May 26, 1912, in New Haven, Conn.) was the daughter of Philo Lewis and Eleanor (Swift) Lewis.

He married on January 28, 1891, in New York City, Julie Hélène Georger, daughter of Louis Franklin Georger, a retired merchant, and sister of Francis Frederic Georger, Yale '87 S. They had no children.

After graduation Bigelow at once began work with the Bigelow Company, manufacturers of steam boilers and plate iron work, of which he became vice-president in 1904. For several years before his death he had resided in New York City, having charge of the company's interests there.

He died suddenly of heart failure at his home in New York City, March 7, 1907. His amiability and uniform courtesy attracted to him a large circle of friends.

Herbert S. Bullard

Lawyer, 2 Central Row, Hartford, Conn.

Residence, 21 Marshall Street, Hartford, Conn.

Herbert Spencer Bullard was born in Hartford, Conn., May 19, 1865. He is the son of Charles Henry Bullard and Susan Augusta (Spencer) Bullard, who were married October 14, 1852, and had five other children, one son and four daughters: Clara Louise Bullard (died April 6, 1856); Arthur Edward Bullard (died April 29, 1863); Alice Bullard; Anna White Bullard, and Mary Agnes Bullard (died February 28, 1871).

Charles Henry Bullard, Yale '47 (born February 13, 1820, in Uxbridge, Mass.; died October 15, 1897, in Hartford, Conn.), studied at the Yale Divinity School from 1848 to 1851. He was acting pastor at Rockville, Conn., in 1852, and pastor from November 17, 1853, to February 1, 1857; district secretary of the American Boston Tract Society, 1858 to 1868; state missionary of the Connecticut Home Missionary Society, 1868 to 1872; district secretary of the American Tract Society, 1872 to 1895. He was the son of Luther Bullard and Hannah (Dudley) Bullard.

Susan Augusta (Spencer) Bullard (born February 16, 1829, in Deep River, Conn.; died August 7, 1896, in Hartford, Conn.) was the daughter of George Spencer and Julia (Pratt) Spencer.

He prepared at the Hartford Public High School and took the Mechanical Engineering Course at Sheff, where he was a member of Berzelius.

He was married February 14, 1906, in Northampton, Mass., to Miss Elizabeth Williston, Smith '93, daughter of Asahel Lyman Williston, president of the First National Bank of Northampton and treasurer of Mount Holyoke College.

In the fall of 1893 Bullard entered the Yale Law School and was graduated with the degree of LL.B. in 1895. While in the school he was a member of Corbey Court and business manager and a member of the editorial board of the Yale Law Journal. On graduating from the Law School he established himself in practice in Hartford, Conn., and has devoted himself to his profession ever since.

He is a Republican and was a member of the Hartford School Board from 1898 to 1904, superintendent of schools from 1898 to 1901, a member of the Common Council in 1904-05, and judge of the Hartford City Court (civil) from 1905 to 1913.

He is a member of the Asylum Hill Congregational Church, the Connecticut Congregational Club, Connecticut Historical Club, Archæological Club of America, Choral Club and University Club of Hartford.

*Richard A. Chapman

Died 1895

Richard Augustus Chapman was born in Rye, N. Y., March 8, 1867. He was the son of Richard B. and Amanda C. (Backus) Chapman.

He prepared at the Park Institute, Rye, N. Y., and took the Mechanical Engineering Course at Sheff.

After graduation he was actively engaged in engineering until attacked by tuberculosis, of which he died at Ogdensburg, N. Y., April 28, 1895, after an illness of two years. He was a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

William H. Coburn

Lumber and coal operator, retired

1503 North Pennsylvania Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

William Henry Coburn was born in Indianapolis, Ind., January 12, 1866. He is a son of Henry Coburn and Mary Ann (Jones) Coburn, who were married May 8, 1862, and had two other sons: Augustus Coburn, Yale '89 (born May 29, 1868), and Henry Peter Coburn, Yale '95 S. (born July 1, 1874).

Henry Coburn (born September 17, 1834, in Indianapolis, Ind., died May 3, 1909, in Battle Creek, Mich.) was the son of Henry Peter Coburn. He was engaged in the lumber business and was president of the Henry Coburn Storage & Warehouse Company.

Mary Ann (Jones) Coburn (born June 13, 1841, in Indianapolis, Ind.) is the daughter of William Henry Jones and Eliza J. Jones.

Coburn prepared at the Rose Polytechnic School, Terre Haute, Ind., and joined the Class in Junior year. He took the Civil Engineering Course.

He was married October 20, 1896, in Indianapolis, Ind., to Miss Helen Erwin, daughter of Daniel P. Erwin, a wholesale drygoods merchant. They have three children, all born in Indianapolis, Ind.: Daniel Erwin (born August 6, 1898); Anna Barbara (born July 5, 1904); and Helen E. (born October 28, 1906).

He was formerly engaged in the lumber and coal business in Indianapolis but has now retired from active business.

He is a Republican in politics, a member of the Second Presbyterian Church and the Country Club of Indianapolis.

Henry F. Coleman

Civil engineer, practicing independently

711 Market Street, Logansport, Ind.

Henry Fitch Coleman was born in Logansport, Ind., December 6, 1864. He is a son of Asa Coleman and Emma (Fitch) Coleman, who were married in December, 1863.

Asa Coleman, M.D. Jefferson College '54 (born March 22, 1832, in Troy, Ohio, died October 11, 1905, in Logansport, Ind.), was a physician, who made his home in Logansport, Ind. He served in the Civil War as surgeon of the 46th Indiana Volunteers. The Coleman family originally settled in Connecticut, near Hartford.

Emma (Fitch) Coleman was born in Logansport, Ind., and died there February 6, 1896. The family came from Genesee County, New York.

Coleman prepared at the public schools of Logansport, and at the Wabash School, Crawfordsville, Ind. He took the Civil Engineering Course at Sheff and was a member of Theta Delta Xi.

He is married and has four children: Mildred (born September 3, 1891, in Cleveland, Ohio); Asa (born October 24, 1895, in Logansport, Ind.); Hulda (born November 19, 1897, in Logansport, Ind.), and Laurence (born February 17, 1902).

Since graduation Coleman has practiced civil engineering and engages chiefly in electrical railway work. He gives the following as his experiences: "Broke my ankle, had two teeth pulled and have been as far south as Piedra Negra, Chihuahua, Mexico—on the south side of the Rio Grande—and even as far east as Boston, Mass., U. S. A. Hasta tener el gusto de volver á verle á V. Adois. This is Bostonese for 'Please pan the beans.'"

In regard to politics he says that it is unsafe to hold any political opinions in Indiana at the present time (June, 1912). He is a member of the Country Club but does not play golf.

Lewis A. Conner, M.D.

Physician, 121 East Sixty-second Street, New York City

Lewis Atterbury Conner was born in New Albany, Ind., January 17, 1867. He is a son of Charles Horace Conner and Katharine Boudinot (Atterbury) Conner, who were married December 26, 1865, and had nine other children: Elizabeth Clara Conner (born October 8, 1868, died October 9, 1868); Julia Allen Conner (born October 24, 1869, studied at Wellesley, married Harold A. Reckitt); Sara Katharine Conner, Wellesley '95 (born March 14, 1872, married January 10, 1896, Rev. Howard Fisher, M.D., a missionary of the Presbyterian Board); Charles Horace Conner, Yale '99 (born December 9, 1874); William Boudinot Conner, Yale '99 (born October 3, 1876); Richard Lord Jones Conner (born July 4, 1884); Larned Conner (born March 13, 1886, died March 14, 1886); Marion Conner (born June 6, 1888, died June 12, 1888), and Dorothy Conner (born September 15, 1890).

Charles Horace Conner, Yale ex'64 (born January 25, 1843, in New Albany, Ind., died August 24, 1901, at Virginia Beach, Va.), was the son of William Chamberlain and Sarah Clark (Jones) Conner. The family first lived in Virginia, later moved to Kentucky and then to Indiana. He left college and was in the quartermaster general's office at Washington during the Civil War. He went into business in 1865 and until his death was a member of the firm of Charles H. Conner & Company, manufacturers of steel building material.

Katharine Boudinot (Atterbury) Conner (born June 15, 1844, in Detroit, Mich.) is the daughter of John Guest and Catharine (Larned) Atterbury, and a sister of Charles L. Atterbury, Yale '64.

Conner prepared at Chenault's School, Louisville, Ky., and in Sheff took the Biology Course. He was a member of the Freshman Glee Club, the University Glee Club and Chi Phi.

He was married November 27, 1900, in New York City, to Miss Emma Witt Harris, daughter of William Hamilton Harris, West Point '63 (died in 1895). They have four children: Katharine Atterbury (born November 30, 1901); William Harris (born April 23, 1905); Edith Harris (born October 30, 1908), and Sylvia Larned (born December 26, 1910).

After graduation Conner entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, where he received the degree of M.D. in 1890. He spent two years as interne in the New York Hospital, two years in postgraduate medical study in Vienna, Heidelberg and Munich, and since then has practiced medicine in New York City. He is professor of clinical medicine in the Cornell University Medical School, in New York City, physician to the New York and other hospitals.

He served with Troop A, New York Volunteers, in the Spanish War, and was a member of Squadron A, New York National Guard, from 1896 to 1900. He is a Republican, and a member of many medical societies, local and national, and the University and Century clubs of New York City.

He has written many articles for medical periodicals.

D. Mark Cummings

Capitalist, 405 First National Bank Building, Chicago, Ill.

Residence, 845 Lincoln Parkway, Chicago, Ill.

David Mark Cummings was born in Pekin, Ill., February 18, 1866. He is a son of Columbus R. Cummings and Sarah Caroline (Mark) Cummings, who were married June 26, 1862.

Columbus R. Cummings (born October 14, 1834, in Canton, N. Y., died July 12, 1897, in Chicago, Ill.) was the son of James Prindel Cummings and Clarissa Wilson Cummings. He was engaged in banking and railroad construction and operation, and was mayor of Pekin, Ill. He resided in Pekin until 1879 and then removed to Chicago, which was his residence at the time of his death.

Sarah Caroline (Mark) Cummings (born June 15, 1841, died December 4, 1909, in Chicago, Ill.) was the daughter of David Mark and Caroline Wright Mark.

Edward W. Durant, Jr.

Vice-president of the E. P. Burton Lumber Company and connected with other corporations, 177 Broad Street, Charleston, S. C.

Edward Warburton Durant was born in Stillwater, Minn., August 4, 1864. He is a son of Edward White Durant and Henrietta (Pease) Durant, who were married December 29, 1853, and had one other child, a daughter: Henrietta (Durant) Barclay (born in Stillwater, Minn., in 1856).

Edward White Durant (born in April, 1829, in Boston, Mass., now (1912) residing with his son) is of French Huguenot ancestry. While in active business he was engaged with lumber, timber and steamboat interests. He was several times mayor of Stillwater, Minn., and served in both houses of the state legislature. He was at one time the Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor and also for the United States Senate. He was grand master for two terms of the Grand (Masonic) Lodge of Minnesota.

Henrietta (Pease) Durant was born September 30, 1833, in St. Louis, Mo., and died June 15, 1910, in Stillwater, Minn. Her family on her mother's side came from Hartford, Conn.

Durant prepared at Racine, Wis., and Phillips Academy, Exeter, Mass. In college he took active interest in athletics, playing football and baseball, was vice-president of the Yale Baseball Association, and served on the undergraduate committee which raised the fund to purchase Yale Field. He took the Select Course and was a member of the University Club and Delta Psi.

He was married January 27, 1904, in Burnside, La., to Mrs. Nancy (Miles) Chisolm, widow of William Gregg Chisolm and daughter of William Porcher Miles, Charleston (S. C.) College '53, president of Charleston College and president of the University of South Carolina. They have four children: Nancy Miles (born October 17, 1904, in Charleston); Henrietta Warburton (born May 24, 1906, in Charleston); Edward Warburton, 2d (born September 4, 1909, in Flat Rock, N. C.), and Thomas (born March 12, 1912, in Charleston). There are also four step-children, William Miles, Caspar Schulte, Oliver Bevans and Mary Gregg Chisolm.

Upon graduation Durant went to a lumber camp, where he made himself generally useful in almost every kind of work from that of stable boy to lumberman, cook and bookkeeper. After ten months he returned to New Haven, worked a short time in a sawmill and the following winter (1889) in a lumber office. In 1889 he went into the logging business independently, remaining until 1897, also estimating and dealing in timber lands in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Louisiana, and owning a sawmill.

He found an outcropping of copper, started prospecting and was superintendent at the copper camp for a year and a half. This work is still being carried on by a mining engineer and they expect to be rich "any minute." Part of the time between 1896 and 1902 was spent in Louisiana, where he did well, dealing in cypress timber.

He came to Charleston in 1904 and is at present interested in a number of enterprises. He is vice-president of E. P. Burton Lumber Company, secretary and treasurer of the Cooper River Corporation and of the Mount Holly Development Company, and vice-president of the Rudolph Development Company (copper mine in Wisconsin).

Durant was a Cleveland Democrat until W. J. Bryan became the party leader, and then became a Republican. He was appointed collector of the Port of Charleston by President Taft to succeed a colored man who was appointed by ex-President Roosevelt and is sometimes introduced as "the man who succeeded the nigger."

He has just completed two terms as president of the Charleston Commercial Club, and is also a member of the University and Yale clubs of New York City, the Charleston Club, the Carolina Yacht Club, the Hibernian Society of Charleston, the Highland Lake Club of North Carolina, the Charleston Country Club, the Pine Grove Shooting Club (president) and the St. Cecelia Society of Charleston, and the Sons of the American Revolution, Minnesota. He was formerly a member of the University Club of Chicago, the Boston Club of New Orleans, the Minnesota, Town and Country, German and White Bear Yacht clubs of St. Paul, Minn., and president of the Stillwater and Stillwater Boat clubs, and the Stillwater Gun Club of Stillwater, Minn. He is a member of the vestry of the Unitarian Church of Charleston, S. C.

George Henry Wood was born November 3, 1867, in Dayton, Ohio. He is the son of General Thomas John Wood, U. S. A., West Point '45, and Caroline Elizabeth (Greer) Wood, who were married November 29, 1861, and had two other children: Thomas John Wood, Jr., Yale ex-'96 (born January 11, 1875, in Dayton, Ohio), and one who died before maturity.

Thomas John Wood, the father (born September 25, 1823, in Munfordville, Ky., died February 25, 1906, in Dayton, Ohio), was the son of George Twyman Wood, a planter of Munfordville, and Elizabeth (Helm) Wood, of Elizabethtown, Ky. He was appointed to West Point from the state in 1841, became a second lieutenant in the topographical engineers in 1845, served on the staff of General Zachary Taylor in the Mexican War, and was brevetted first lieutenant at the battle of Buena Vista. After the war he served in Louisiana and Texas as aide-de-camp to General William S. Harney. In 1860 he was given leave of absence and made an extensive tour throughout Europe, Western Asia, and Northern Africa. In October, 1861, while serving as colonel of the Second Cavalry in the regular army, he was appointed brigadier general of volunteers. He was in active service throughout the Civil War, chiefly as a division and a corps commander in the Army of the Cumberland, and was several times wounded in action. In September, 1866, after serving as commander of the department of the Mississippi, he was mustered out of the volunteers and sent back to his regiment; and in June, 1868, he was retired, with the rank of major-general, for disability from wounds received in battle; but his rank was changed by law in 1875 to that of a brigadier general. His ancestors came from England in the seventeenth century, and settled in Albemarle County, Va.

Caroline Elizabeth (Greer) Wood was born November 16, 1840, in Dayton, Ohio, and is still living (May, 1912). She is the daughter of James Greer, a manufacturer, and Caroline Elizabeth (King) Greer, the King family having settled in Massachusetts in 1662. Her grandfather Greer left Ireland on account of participation in the trouble of 1798.

Wood prepared at Deaver Collegiate Institute, Dayton, Ohio, and took the Select Course at Sheff, where he was a member of Berzelius. He received an appointment at Commencement.

He was married June 29, 1910, in Dayton, Ohio, to Miss Virginia Peirce, B.A. Smith '10, the daughter of John Elliot Peirce, a hotel proprietor. They have one son: Thomas John (born September 26, 1911, in Dayton, Ohio).

Wood is a partner in the firm of Lay & Wood, brokers. He writes: "Graduated from the Cincinnati Law School in 1889 [receiving prize for highest examination on graduation], and practiced law in Dayton until 1898, when I entered the military service in the Third Ohio Volunteer Infantry. After being mustered out in the fall of 1898, I reëntered the U. S. service in 1899 and served for two years in the Philippines during the suppression of the insurrection in those islands, seeing a good share of active service. On my return I declined a commission in the regular army, and entered the brokerage business in Dayton, Ohio. In 1904 by a state law the military staff of the governor of Ohio was required to be detailed from the National Guard, and I have served continuously on the staffs of Governors Herrick, Pattison, Harris and Harmon."

Wood was private, corporal, sergeant, and second lieutenant in the Third Ohio Volunteer Infantry in 1898; brigade commissary, Second Brigade, Third Division, Fourth Army Corps, 1898; first lieutenant, Twenty-eighth U. S. Volunteer Infantry, in the Philippine service, 1899 to 1901; captain and adjutant of Third Regiment Infantry, Third Ohio National Guard, 1901 to 1912, and major of Third Regiment Infantry, Ohio National Guard for 1912. On January 13, 1913, he was appointed adjutant general of Ohio by Governor James M. Cox. During the disastrous floods which swept the entire state of Ohio during the months of March and April, 1913, he was military commander of Montgomery County, and as such commander exercised martial law in Dayton and Montgomery County for six weeks.

He is a Democrat in politics, and was a member of the Civil Service Commission in Dayton during 1910, and has served on various city and county committees. He is a member of the Yale Club of New York, the Dayton Club and the Buz Fuz Club of Dayton. He attends the Presbyterian Church. He visited Europe in 1889 and again in 1910.

William L. Harrison

Lawyer

Branford, Conn.

William Lynde Harrison was born February 22, 1868, in Branford, Conn., the son of Lynde Harrison and Sarah Frisbee (Plant) Harrison, who were married May 2, 1867, and had two other children: Paul Wolcott Harrison, LL.B. Yale 1896 (born April 4, 1871, in Branford, Conn., died June 18, 1907, in New York City), and Gertrude Plant Harrison, wife of Edmund Quincy Trowbridge, B.A. Yale 1899.

Lynde Harrison, LL.B. Yale 1860 (born December 15, 1837, in New Haven, Conn., died June 8, 1906, in New Haven, Conn.), was the son of James Harrison, for many years a banker and merchant in Augusta, Ga., and Charlotte Nicoll (Lynde) Harrison, and grandson of John Hart Lynde, B.A. Yale 1796. He was a descendant of Rev. John Hart, B.A. Yale 1703, the first actual student in Yale college who was advanced to a bachelor's degree, and the first minister of East Guilford (now Madison), Conn. He was a prominent lawyer of New Haven, Conn., was a member of the Connecticut House of Representatives, being speaker of the House in 1877, and while a member of the State Senate was ex officio Fellow of Yale University. He was married a second time, September 30, 1886, to Miss Harriet Sage White, daughter of Luther Chapin White, a manufacturer and capitalist, and Jane Amelia (Moses) White, of Waterbury, Conn. By this marriage he had one daughter, Katherine White Harrison.

ford, Conn.) was of English descent, the daughter of Samuel O. Plant of Branford. She attended Miss Porter's School.

Harrison prepared at the Morgan School, under E. D. Holbrook, and at Yale was a member of Theta Xi.

He was married November 12, 1900, in Bangor, Maine, to Grace E. Clergue. They have one daughter, Sarah Plant, born April 4, 1908.

Harrison received the degree of LL.B. from the New York Law School in 1899. He is a director of the Branford Trust Company, Branford, Conn., and of the Electrene and Gear Improvement companies of New York City. He is a member of the Engineers' Club of New York City, and writes that he is a Taft Progressive. He gives the following account of his life since leaving Yale: "Served an ordinary clerkship for fifteen years. Attended night classes at the New York Law School, was admitted to the New York Bar, and practiced law for a few years. I then became interested in certain mechanical devices, and went to Europe and lived in England from two to three years, being engaged with such devices. These matters still interest me and occupy my time. I also attempt to raise something on my old farm at Branford. Very much regret that I did not have the chance to really become acquainted with my classmates."

John S. Kulp, M.D., Ph.D.

Died 1910

John Stewart Kulp was born in Wilkes Barre, Pa., March 8, 1866, the son of George B. Kulp, a lawyer of Wilkes Barre, Pa.

He was married March 21, 1904, to Miss Zoe Worthington Smith of Philadelphia, Pa.

Kulp graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1899, took a post-graduate course in 1890, and studied medicine in the University of Berlin, Germany, in 1891-92. For two years he served as resident physician of the Wilkes Barre City Hospital.

He entered the United States Army in 1893 as first lieutenant, and subsequently rose to the ranks of captain and major. He retired in 1907, settled at Seattle, Wash., where he took up the practice of medicine and at the time of his death was surgeon general of militia in the State of Washington, with the rank of colonel.

While in the army Major Kulp was active in making improvements in the service. One was the establishment of what is now known in the army as the hospital corps. One of his first military duties was a reindeer expedition into Alaska, where he was stationed at an army post until the Spanish-American War broke out. He served throughout that war and in the Philippine insurrection as a surgeon of the Twenty-second Regiment, United States Infantry, and in the ambulance company, First Division, Third Corps. He took part in Gen. Wheaton's expedition along the Pasig, Gen. MacArthur's advance on Malor and Gen. Lawton's northern expedition, besides many other short expeditions and skirmishes. He was in forty engagements and escaped without a wound.

He was a member of various hereditary and military societies and was the author of several monographs on medico-military subjects. After the Philippine insurrection he was transferred to Manila and there built military hospital number three. In all the wars of the republic models have been taken of what the authorities deemed the best military hospital, and Kulp's hospital was taken as the model of the Spanish-American War.

After the war he was sent by the government on a trip around the world investigating military hospitals of the various countries in Europe, Asia and Australia, and made a report of his investigation to the War Department.

He died suddenly at his home in Seattle, June 6, 1910, of heart disease.

OCCUPATIONS

In the following paragraphs the members of the Class are listed according to the occupations in which they are at present engaged, or in which they were engaged before their death or retirement, or in which they were engaged during the greater part of their life. Men who have engaged in more than one occupation are included in parenthesis under their earlier or minor occupations. These names in parenthesis are not included in the totals given for the various occupations nor in the table of undergraduate courses and occupations following. In these paragraphs the name of each graduate is followed by the abbreviated names of his undergraduate courses. The abbreviations used are the following: the Agricultural Course, Agri; the Biological Course, Bio; the Engineering Courses, CE and ME, referring respectively to Civil and Mechanical Engineering; the Chemistry Course, Chem; the Select Course, Sel. When the undergraduate course is unknown a dash follows the name.
